Keynote Speaker: Tammara Geary

Tammara Geary of Geary Consulting is a nationally recognized trainer and consultant focusing on creating and supporting community, employment, and economic advancement of people with disabilities, specializing in customized and self-employment. She is known for her practical experience and her ability to provide understandable nuts and bolts information. She has many years of experience working on long-term projects with a variety of organizations as they implement new strategies and change the way they provide supports to people they serve. Current and past projects include retooling direct service staff to face the challenges of Employment First; and working with statewide projects to improve employment outcomes in multiple localities.

Tammara is co-author (with Cary Griffin and Dave Hammis) of The Job Developer's Handbook: Practical Tactics for Customized Employment (Brookes Publishing, 2007). She facilitates a Job Coaching web course for Training Resource Network a few times each year and serves as the primary support for her sister with disabilities.
