Howard Chudler, MFT, has over 35 years of experience working with people who have developmental disabilities. He specializes in educational services and "on-site" behavior intervention (often at the individual's home, program, or work) focused on specific target behaviors. This seminar will be a frank discussion about attraction and development as it pertains to relationships and sexuality in people with disabilities, from pre-teen to adults. It will include suggestions about how to increase your comfort level when talking about it with your own children.

This workshop is free of charge, but RSVP's are required.

To RSVP, please call 818-543-4631 or email: melody.goodman@scdd.ca.gov and provide your name, email address, phone number, and any language translation needs by September 13, 2013.

Light refreshments will be served.
Please note we are unable to provide childcare.
