20/3 Annual Conference

Inclusion: How do I make it work?

For Educators and Parents - With Dr. Mary Falvey

Ready! Set! Go!

Foundational Elements for Parents of Birth to Three

Dr. Mary A. Falvey is an author, professor, national speaker and is passionate about inclusive education for students with and without disabilities. Her book, Believe In My Child With Special Needs!: Helping Children Achieve Their Potential In School, is full of information on how to promote children's access to the general curriculum, how to use appropriate modification and assessment strategies and how to work collaboratively with home and school. She combines practical strategies while giving a clear vision of an inclusive life. She is currently a professor at Cal State Los Angeles and has assumed responsibility coordinating the program in severe disabilities and inclusive education. She is a Member of the Accessible Technology Initiative Committee and is the current Dean of the Charter College of Education at CSULA.
